To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter in strong support of Nicholas Stafford in his application to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

As a former Senior Executive with the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, where I led enterprise technology and mission-critical security systems supporting national security operations, and now as Director of Enterprise IT at HRL Laboratories, I offer my endorsement based on direct supervisory experience and a deep understanding of the standards required for federal service.

I had the privilege of supervising Nicholas during his tenure as a Service Desk Technician at HRL Laboratories, where he consistently demonstrated exceptional professionalism, integrity, technical competence, and leadership potential.

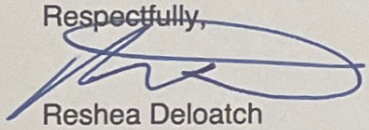

In his role, Nicholas supported secure enterprise systems, managed sensitive access controls, responded to incidents, and ensured compliance with organizational security standards. He approached these responsibilities with exceptional diligence, discretion, and attention to detail. I trusted Nick to handle confidential systems and sensitive information with the highest level of integrity.

Nicholas distinguished himself through strong analytical ability, disciplined execution, and a clear commitment to continuous improvement. He consistently demonstrated accountability, sound judgment, and respect for established procedures. In high-pressure situations, he remained calm, methodical, and focused on mission success—traits essential for federal law enforcement and intelligence environments.

He also demonstrated leadership by mentoring peers, strengthening operational documentation, and supporting cross-functional initiatives. His ability to communicate effectively with both technical and non-technical stakeholders reflects maturity and professionalism.

Based on my direct experience and my background leading federal enterprise technology organizations, I am confident Nicholas possesses the integrity, intellectual capability, and sense of duty required to serve successfully within the FBI. I recommend him without reservation and would welcome the opportunity to provide additional information if needed.

Respectfully,

Reshea Deloatch
Director of Enterprise IT
HRL Laboratories
Former Senior Executive, U.S. Department of Homeland Security
Rldeloatch@hrl.com
703-376-1384